

ThePromise/Affinicom Scheme

This is a request for help that will cost you nothing. We have collaborated with Affinicom to offer a service that benefits ThePromise. Affinicom is a telecoms company whose mission is to help community-based organisations – such as charities, community groups and educational groups – to raise much-needed funds that enable them to continue their invaluable work. Affinicom is offering a unique method of helping ThePromise to raise funds to support the children with special needs in the Russian Orphanages.

By converting your telephone carrier to Affinicom you will be helping ThePromise every time you make a call! Affinicom will share with the charity the profit generated on the calls that you make. Not only that, Affinicom's charges are, in general, considerably cheaper than BT. For example, the cost of a national peak time call with BT is 8p per minute. With Affinicom, it is only 2.5p per minute! Affinicom's overseas call charges are especially competitive. So you can be saving money at the same time as helping to raise funds for ThePromise.

Apart from agreeing to switch to Affinicom you do not have to take any action. Affinicom will handle all aspects of the transfer for you. BT retains ownership of your line and remains responsible for its maintenance and also the provision of existing BT services such as 1471, 1571, call waiting, etc. There is no change in how you make the calls but they will be cheaper.

ThePromise is pleased to be associated with the Affinicom scheme and to offer it to our supporters as a means of generating much needed funds. As the amount that you will have contributed will be shown on your telephone usage bill you will be able to see just how much you have helped ThePromise on a monthly basis.

An average household bill of £45 per month would generate a monthly income of approximately £3. Anne, a current Affinicom user, says of the service “We have been using Affinicom for nearly 6 months and we’ve been really pleased with the service. It’s been really simple to make the switch from BT, and it’s great to know that we can support a cause close to our hearts at the same time as saving money!”

PLEASE HELP ThePromise THIS WAY IF YOU CAN.
